Informed Sport is a global quality assurance and supplement certification programme for sports supplements through its world-renowned sports doping control and research supplement testing lab LGC, originally founded in 1842 as the Laboratory of the Board of Excise, later renamed Laboratory of the Government Chemist and privatised in 1996 as LGC. Informed Sport was founded to specifically address anti-doping in 2007. With over 400 published scientific papers and over 500 labor-years of research into doping control, LGC is a supplement testing lab that is recognised as a global leader and trusted partner in the field of anti-doping and supplement analysis.

Informed Sport tests sports supplement products for a wide range of banned substances on the WADA Prohibited List, as well as lists for organisations such as the AFL, NRL, NFL, NCAA and MLB. Presence of the Informed Sport supplement certification quality mark on product packaging demonstrates to athletes and consumers that every batch of a product has been tested for substances prohibited in sport.

In addition, the certification assures that the product was made in an environment with quality systems appropriate for the stringent demands of sports nutrition manufacturing.

Quality and purity is extremely critical, whether for performance, health, or safety, as impurities can be counterproductive or even dangerous. That is why MIRAILAB BIOSCIENCE achieves the highest purity among manufacturers of NMN products, certified at over 99% by the Institute for Research on Productive Aging (IRPA), further reinforcing the high quality that Informed Sport attests..
